FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Some thoughts on NAPLAN

I am sure you have seen one or two things about NAPLAN this week. It seems the media is suddenly shocked that there is one third of Australian students who are not meeting national benchmarks for reading and numeracy. Those of us who have been engaged in the education debate have known that NAPLAN can be useful, and support schools and systems finding ways to continuously improve. It is not an indication of poor Initial Teacher Education programs, nor is it a statistic that a third of classrooms are failing our students.

Indicators like socioeconomic and geographic locations are the indicators of some students not aligning with their peers. The widening gaps between access and non-access to services and support are also indicators. For those of us who love the classroom and education of young people we know that we have a huge task ahead of us. The rhetoric for the brilliant education delivered across our system needs to be louder. The excellence needs to be scaled up and the voices of teachers, students and families who know this work is much more complex need to be heard.

We commit to continuous improvement always; our conversations should be about support and growth and our children, our children who are more than one result every two years. Our children are much more than this and we are so grateful for the support you continuously show us.

On a Brighter note...

Trevallyn staff have been recognised for leading the way...

Our Student Support Leadership have been awarded an Australian Council of Educational Leaders - Excellence in Educational Leadership. Congratulations Mrs Martin, Ms Hudson, Mrs Goss, Ms Stevenson, Mrs Ryan and Miss Birtwhistle. They were recognised by ACEL Tasmania for exemplary leadership, showcasing the best of instructional coaching and a relentless focus on people first. Positive Psychology and Berry Street Education Model, Wellbeing, Multi-Tiered Systems of Support, commitment to strong capacity building and instructional leadership are their drivers for this work.

Congratulations Team Trevallyn, very deserving recipients of this quite prestigious educational award.

Our focus on Safeguarding

We know that having you as part of our school events is important for our students and this is why we want you to come along as volunteers and spectators. As you know, we set out to keep our students safe, happy and learning. All our events, excursions and learning experiences are focused on connecting our young people deeply to learning. As we continue to navigate the rest of this year's opportunities to be involved, it is important that we all stay on the same page:

- When you come into the school as a volunteer, you need to check in, receive your yellow vest or lanyard and meet the teacher or person you will be working with. You must also show the office staff your WWVP card and Safeguarding Module completion certificate.
- If you are coming for an appointment with your child's teacher or another staff member, you also need to check in, receive a lanyard and meet the teacher or staff member in the front office.
- For events like our student led conferences, Assemblies and Sports Carnivals we will set up sign in sheets for you.
- If you are dropping or picking your children up from school after 9:00am and before 3:00pm you must come to the front office and sign your child in and out. School staff will support children to and from the classrooms.

You will have noticed that at Assembly and Sports Day we have asked that you do not take photos. This is to support all children and you. Taking a photo of a child requires permission and it is important that we respect the rights of all children and their families. We will continue to support all our families engaging in special moments and we ask that you support us also. All events like the Sport Carnivals are set up with safety at the forefront. We understand that you want to be close to the action and we will continue to adjust and plan for your involvement. It is awkward when we have to ask you not to enter children's toilets, not to take photos or videos of other peoples' children or return to the designated areas.

Thanks Trevallyn!
